

Physical, social, and mental environments conducive to study, research, and well-being

No.	Dimension of Environment	Actions / Support Provided	Impact on study, research, and well-being	Primary Users
1	Physical environment for learning	Academic buildings, classrooms, meeting rooms, laboratories, Building 4 of the Faculty of Business Administration, and learning-support areas of the program	Supports teaching and learning, group work, research, and the organisation of academic activities	Students/Academic Staff
2	Learning resources and information technology	Office of Academic Resources and Information Technology, databases, retrieval systems, computers, and electronic devices	Supports report preparation, projects, research, information retrieval, and self-directed learning	Students/Academic Staff
3	Spaces and buildings for large-scale activities	Rajamangala Auditorium, with a capacity of 2,000 seats	Accommodates national and international academic conferences, ceremonies, and major university events	Students/Academic Staff
4	Physical health environment	Central sports field, gymnasium, swimming pool, sport-specific facilities, and the RMUTT Fitness Center	Promotes physical health, exercise, shared activities, and creative use of leisure time	Students/Academic Staff
5	Living facilities	Dormitories for Thai and international students, and electric shuttle vehicles within the university	Supports quality of life, reduces the burden of travel, and helps students conveniently access learning spaces and activities	Students/Academic Staff
6	Social environment	Sports activities, faculty activities, arts and cultural activities, and international program activities	Promotes relationships, teamwork, coexistence, and participation in the university community	Students/Academic Staff
7	Mental environment	The Encouragement Clinic, or Mind Counseling RMUTT, provides individual, group, and online counselling	Supports mental well-being, reduces stress, and helps students receive care safely and privately	Students/Academic Staff
8	Health services	The RMUTT Nursing Center provides care and treatment for illnesses	Supports the basic health of students and staff within the university	Students/Academic Staff
9	Scholarship support	Provision of scholarship advice and the Student Loan Fund (SLF) services	Reduces financial barriers and supports students in continuing their studies	Students/Academic Staff